This past Monday, NC-931, Monroe / CATA AFJROTC, was inspected in 15 categories ranging from cadet knowledge to uniform inspection; from instructor program management to corps of cadet operations; from compliance to inventory. This year's inspection couldn't have gone any better, earning an "Exceeds Standards" (highest rating) in 14 out of the 15 rated areas, placing us in the top 2% of all 878 AFJROTC Units and over 121,000 high school students worldwide. This all made possible by the outstanding effort and dedication of Cadet Taylor Raine. Cadet Taylor Raine was recognized as one of the two top performers as a result of her untiring work over the last six months. As the Director of Logistics, she is responsible for the management of all equipment and inventory items. This includes, but is not limited to the following: all practice rifles, drill rifles, replica weapons and swords/sabers. She insures all accountable uniform items are managed, issued, and inventoried via WINGS data base by individual size and quantity while maintaining an active file of signed hand receipts for items in cadets' possession. She makes sure all Air Force equipment is serially controlled, properly marked and displayed and all AFJROTC curriculum items, books, and technology are properly marked and accounted for. All in all, Cadet Raine manages over 5,900 individual inventory line items, with cadet issued uniform items valued at over $75,000 alone. Superior job well done Ms. Raine!

CATA's NHS Chapter Fills Birthday Goody Bags for Needy

Mae Hinson, CATA's 2018 National Honor Society (NHS) president, suggested collecting supplies and making goody bags for Bright Blessings for the NHS chapter's required first semester project. Bright Blessings' "birthday program brings [a] message of joy and positive recognition to homeless and impoverished children whose special day may otherwise go unnoticed."

Children who may otherwise not have the means to celebrate their birthday can have a celebration at a local shelter or housing program. Each child receives a goody bag with a sweet treat, some needed items, and some fun items.

This was a whole-school collection drive where each class was asked to donate something specific such as fruit snacks, pens, small notebooks, etc. The NHS members then brought in some monetary donations to cover purchasing items such as stress balls and temporary birthday tattoos that might be more difficult to find. Once all the donations had been collected and additional items ordered, NHS members stayed after school and created an assembly line to get over 200 goody bags put together.

On a teacher workday, Mae Hinson came to CATA and picked up the boxes of goody bags to take to Bright Blessings. The organization was happy to accept the donation for their birthday parties. To learn more about Bright Blessings and the other services they provide, please go to their website at <https://www.brightblessingsusa.org/>.
