Dear parent/guardian,

We understand that your student may be absent from school for the next two weeks. In effort to continue to provide your child with access to instructional resources we will rely on the use of Canvas as your student's learning management system. Through Canvas, your student will have access to a variety of instructional resources designed to continue his/her academic learning within their assigned courses/subjects.

Please understand that your student's teacher will serve as the primary resource for academic support and that the teacher of record will be able to answer any questions you may have about course content. Please understand that your student's teacher may not be able to respond to questions immediately if they occur during the instructional day. However, he/she will follow up with students, as his/her schedule permits, in order to support your student's learning. Also, please make sure your child attends his/her teacher's live streaming sessions or views recorded lessons or videos daily.

If you or your student need assistance beyond the classroom teacher then our school will have the following individuals available to support your student at the times listed below:

Please see Page 2 with our school's schedule.

Please know that your student is still able to submit assignments and activities through Canvas during his/her absence. Additionally, teachers will be able to provide students with feedback on submitted assignments and learning activities during quarantine. Our goal is to assist you and your student throughout this period in as many ways as possible and continue to support him/her in their academic progress.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

Brian Patience, Ed.D.
Principal
