Subject: National School Counseling Week

National School Counseling Week is February 1 - 5, 2021

School counselors are essential to the success of our schools. The Office of Accountability and Research will send out certificates of recognition to school counselors next week. In addition, the UCPS Communications Team will post a feature story about school counseling as well as three counselor testimonials on the UCPS website and social media pages. At the school level, please take time to honor our school counselors in the most appropriate manner during National School Counseling Week.
