

Leadership Institute for Future Teachers (LIFT)

Why LIFT

Engage in intensive and innovative on-campus activities

Interact with statewide leaders in education

Enhance communication and leadership skills to be competitive for statewide and national scholarships

Develop friendships with like-minded high school students across the state

Be mentored by current NC State students who will serve as program co-facilitators

Receive ongoing encouragement and support after the program through digital engagement

What: A five-day invitational residential program for students of color and bilingual students who are rising high school seniors in North Carolina interested in exploring a potential career in education

When: Sunday, June 20, 2021-
Thursday, June 24, 2021

Where: NC State University

Cost: All expenses paid except for travel to and from Raleigh

Who: For academically-competitive, bilingual students and students of color who are rising high school seniors in North Carolina interested in education. Students can be self-nominated or nominated by high school counselors, teachers or principals.

NC STATE College of Education

Leadership Institute for Future Teachers (LIFT)

- What: A five-day invitational residential program for students of color and bilingual students who are rising high school seniors in North Carolina interested in exploring a potential career in education
- When: Sunday, June 20, 2021-Thursdays, June 24, 2021
- Where: NC State University
- Cost: All expenses paid except for travel to and from Raleigh
- Who: For academically-competitive, bilingual students and students of color who are rising high school seniors in North Carolina interested in education. Students can be self-nominated or nominated by high school counselors, teachers or principals.

Why LIFT

Engage in intensive and innovative on-campus activities

Interact with statewide leaders in education

Enhance communication and leadership skills to be competitive for statewide and national scholarships

Develop friendships with like-minded high school students across the state

Be mentored by current NC State students who will serve as program co-facilitators

Receive ongoing encouragement and support after the program through digital engagement

Learn More: ced.ncsu.edu/LIFT

ced.ncsu.edu

